2.1 Objectives

1. UG Education:

To impart education in different branches of Veterinary and Animal Sciences to achieve an annual pass percentage of 85 per cent and to reduce the dropouts to zero percent.

2. PG Education and Research:

To further advancement of learning and research in Veterinary and Animal Sciences to obtain at least five externally funded projects per year and 70 M.V.Sc., and 20 Ph.D research projects.

3. Extension:

To undertake the transfer of at least one technology standardized at the college to the farming community in cooperation with the Government and such other agencies.

2.2 Mission / Vision Statement

The Mission of Madras Veterinary College is reflected in its quality policy.

“The quality policy of Madras Veterinary College, a constituent of TANUVAS is to be an institution of international excellence in Veterinary Education and Research and to develop and disseminate scientific knowledge and skill for enhanced Livestock and poultry productivity through the use of social and economic and environmental relevance developed by team approach”.

The above are achieved with due consideration for continued improvements through the application of quality policy and quality objectives.

2.3 Brief History and context of its formation

The Madras Veterinary College one of the oldest veterinary institutions in the country and was started in 1903. It was the fifth civil veterinary institution to be started after Babugarh (Later Lahore), Mumbai, Kolkata and Ajmer. This institution was started in deference to the initiatives of the then Government of India under British Empire to produce trained veterinary manpower, who function well above the standards of native farriers and salutries. Veterinary Major W.D Gunn, who was also responsible for starting the veterinary institution at Bengal was instrumental in establishing this institution at Vepery in the present location opposite to the SPCA on a land purchased from Church of Scotland. The college started functioning from 1st October, 1903. The main building is one of the few heritage buildings that remain in the city in wonderful Indo-Saracenic architecture. This college was the first institution in India to be affiliated to University of Madras in 1935 and started offering degree programme in Veterinary Science styled as B.V.Sc (Bachelor of Veterinary Science) from 1936. The college became Southern Regional Centre for Post-graduate Education and Research in 1958 and started offering M.V.Sc (Master of Veterinary Science). In the year 1969, this college with few other research institutions became the Directorate of Veterinary Education and Research, first of its kind in India. This college was affiliated to the Tamil Nadu Agricultural University in 1974 and later became its constituent college in 1976. This institution was responsible for the establishment of Tamil Nadu Veterinary and Animal Sciences University in 1989 and functioning as its constituent institution. This institution celebrated its centenary on July 6, 2003.

The college is located in six hectares of land with excellent infrastructural facilities to carry out teaching, research and extension activities. The campus houses the 102 years old administrative building in indo-saracenic architecture, 31 departments, well equipped teaching hospital, clinical laboratories, semen bank, students day centre, computer centres, Internet Kiosk, BITS-ARIS centre, library, physical education complex, conference halls, auditorium, cafeteria, students cooperative stores, students hostel etc.

The institution provides feed back frOm all its activities and expects the customers / endusers / farmers / students to provide valuable suggestions for improvement.

2.9 Arrangements and methods made for public contribution

The institution is having a quality management system (QMS) in compliance to ISO 9001-2000 specification.

2.10 Mechanism available for monitoring service delivery and public grievance

The adoption of the quality management system is the strategic decision of the management for quality improvement programmes. The quality policy is based on Quality Objectives, Services provided, and Processes adopted. The entire process is based on the following clauses of the International Standards of ISO 9001-2000.

1. Quality Management System
2. Management Responsibility
3. Resource Management
4. Product Realization (Service Activity)
5. Measurement Analysis & Improvement specified in the international standards.

A Quality Manual is under use and it is used as a guide by both internal and external agencies including certifying bodies to audit the organisations ability to meet

1. Customer Requirements
2. Organisation Requirements
3. Statutory & Regulatory Requirements

This International Standard promotes a process approach, which when developed and implemented, improve and upgrade the effectiveness of the quality management system to enhance customer satisfaction by meeting customer requirements.

In order to function effectively numerous link activities are identified and managed and process approach is followed. This process approach is the ongoing control that it provides over the linkage between the individual processes within the system of processes as well as over their combination of interaction.

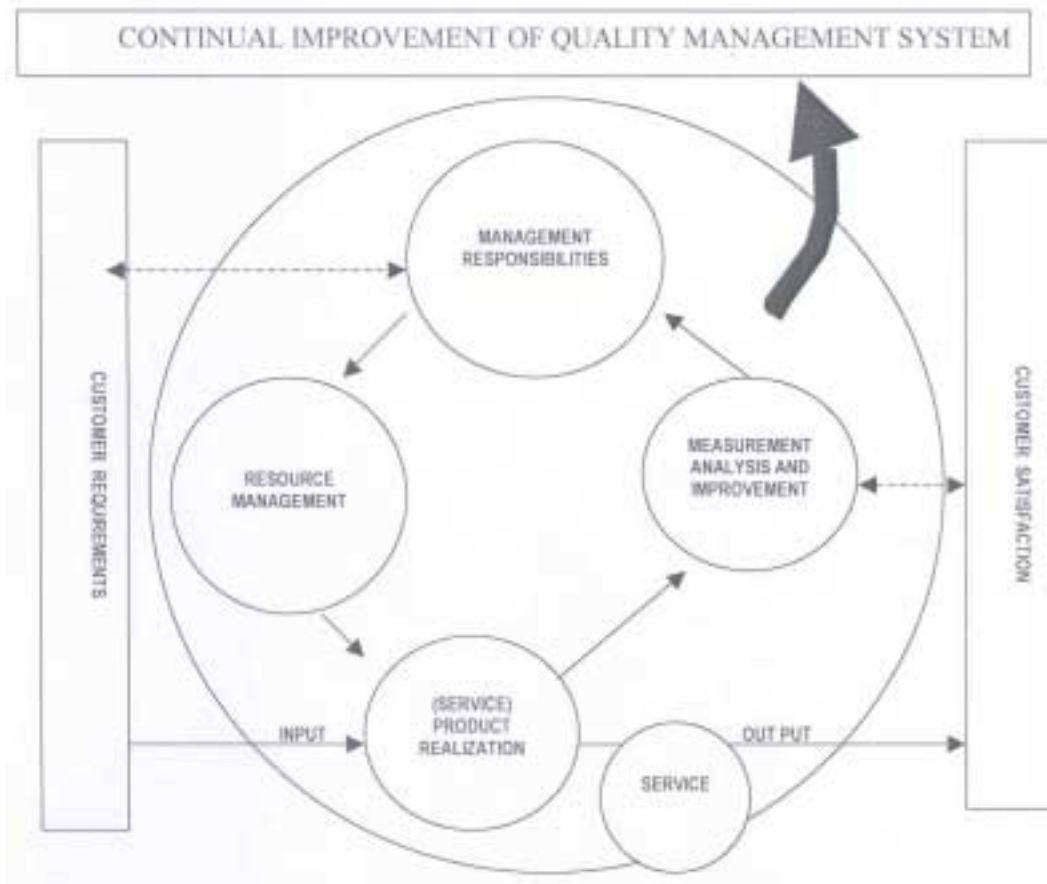

The process approach emphasizes

- Understanding & meeting requirements
- Consider process in terms of added value
- Obtain results of process performance and effectiveness

This illustration demonstrates that customers play a significant role in defining requirement input.

Monitoring customers' satisfaction requires the evaluation of information relating to customers perception as to whether we have met the customers requirements.

The procedures related are documented separately.

In addition the process module promotes the P.D.C.A methodology.

PLAN – Objectives and processes necessary to deliver products in line to customer requirements and the organisation policies are established.

DO – Implement the process

CHECK – Monitor and measure processes and product against –

- Policies
- Objectives

- Product requirements
- Output results report

ACT – Take action to continually improve process performance.
